

LEGACY GIVING

Leaving a legacy - we all want to do that. One way it can be done is by remembering a charitable organization in your will. Louis J. Mihalovic did just that, and his generous gift to FAMILYConnections is helping to transform people's lives.

Mr. Mihalovic died at the age of 84. He served in the US Navy and was stationed in the Central West Pacific during World War II. In 1947, he moved to Maplewood and worked for the New York Central Railroad which later became the Penn Central Railroad. Mr. Mihalovic loved sports, and in the 1930's he was a bat boy for the Newark Bears.

Though he never married, Louis Mihalovic cared for his ailing brother and sister for many years. He left his estate to a number of local charities that he had come to know including FAMILYConnections - a gift by bequest, a legacy gift.

Can one person make a difference? Yes. Legacy gifts help ensure the future of organizations like FAMILYConnections. A special thanks to Louis Mihalovic for remembering FAMILYConnections in his planning.
